Insurance Wholesaler Socius Insurance Services, Inc. Announces New Small Business Cyber Program

San Francisco, Calif. – September 15, 2015. Socius Insurance Services, Inc., a management liability and property/casualty insurance wholesaler, announced the launch of a new cyber program for small businesses.

In the wake of so many high profile cyber attacks and privacy breaches, the new Empower Program provides an easy to comprehend solution with broad coverage. This new policy includes data breach expense, network security, privacy liability, regulatory fine and penalties, network extortion, media liability, PCI fines and penalties, and business interruption and data recovery. The program is specifically designed to help protect small to medium sized businesses against the growing risk of cyber attacks and evolving privacy regulations.

“Many of the cyber products available today are geared toward large technology and other multinational companies,” said Kevin Miller, Director of Programs at Socius Insurance Services, Inc. “This product has been specifically designed to meet the needs of smaller, traditional main street businesses that still face the same risk from data breaches and an increasing regulatory environment.”
